Mamed for Representatives-The Democrats Hold a Brace of Conventions to Nominate Legis'stive Candidates.

"We want a man who we know is a democrat, and are not here to be swallowed up by the people's party," shout-ed Alderman Mills at the democratic convention in Leppig hall last night. "That's the stuff," yelled the delegates to the democratic convention last night, when they were about to nominate a state senstor. Alderman Mills was disgusted with the endorsement of the people's party nominees for represembly of the great unwashed to order at 8 o'clock, and called the Honory and in a tiresome speech announced what the business of the convention was to be. Dr. D. Emmett Welsh was elected temporary secretary. The chair appointed the following committee on credentials and permanent organization:

and the secretary was instructed to cast the ballot of the convention. For the second member William F. Tea and the Hon. Jack Hayward were named. Mr. Carroll desired to know if Alderman Mills, who made the nomination, was authorized to do so. Mr. Mills stated that he was.

City Marshal Bragg seconded the nomination of Mr. Tea, and stated that he believed it was the better policy to support the people's party nominees, and E. L. Cakins of the fifth ward supported Mr. Hayward. A ballot was taken, with the following result:

Tea, 23; Hayward, 12.

The result was received mingled with applause and hisses. Mr. De-Vries moved the ballot be made unanimous, but there were several dissenting votes.

John Burrows was nominated by a delegate of the fifth ward.

Alderman Milis took the floor and nominated the Hon. Jack Hayward, who, he said, was a democrat and he was there as a democrat and not to be swallowed up by the people's party. He wanted a man who would support democratic principles. A ballot was taken and the result is appended:

Hayward, 15; Burrows, 19; John Ol-

Chris Wernett, E. F. Herrington and E. A. Maher were appointed to drag him be-fore his friends.

Col. Aldrich Made a Speech. M. M. Houseman was called for. He stated that at last the republicans were not flaunting the flag in the faces of the democrats, and the two parties faced each other on an issue. Senator Doran had come in during Mr. Housenan's speech. He thanked the convention for the honor, and told at length of the different bills he had helped to pass. His speech was well

Shameful Confession

It is a shameful confession to make that many people are willing to use adulterated articles because they are cheaper, and in doing so often subjecting themselves to injurious effects, for it must not be supposed that those who are willing, at the cost of reputation and for the purpose of gain, to impose adulterated goods upon the public, would heritate to use injurious adulterants. Dr. Price has an established reputation for manufacturing good and pure articles, and his Delicious Flavoring Extracts of Vanilla, Lemon, etc., are the most perfect made. .

always has good speakers ready to ad-dress those who attend. Last night McClellan's hall was packed to listen to Charles McGill. A number of women were present.

An unifor of women were present.

Ar. McGill began by giving a brief sketch of the democrat and republican parties, and drew a comparison of the work done by each. He gave some statistics on the tin plate industry and the wire nail industry. He quoted from an official report these figures:

"There were 8,000,000 pounds of tin

"There were 8,000,000 pounds of tin plate made in this country during the quarter ending June 30, e892; of this 5,000,000 was made from American block plates. For the quarter ending Sept. 30, 1801, there was made but $26,922 pounds; the next quarter shows 1,409,821 pounds; the next quarter shows 3,004,687 pounds, and the quar-ter ending Sune 30 of the present year shows 8,000,000 pounds. The convention made a first-class The convention made a first-class choice. I do want to get even with one or two Grand Rapids men, though. Some of them have an idea that God Almighty made the fifth district in order to give Grand Rapids a little more room to wobble around in. They can't see how any place but Grand Rapids could possibly have any rights. That is what makes me tired. I can remember when they didn't think a man could try a law suit if he did not live here. Now politics is their stronghold and some of these fellows think it's a mighty sight more important that Grand Rapids should have its own way than it is that the sun should rise."

"We shall run up a fair sized republican plurality up our way," said C. M. Loomis of Sparta yesterday. FIRE AT CEDAR SPRINGS.

The Fire Department Receives a Call From the Village.

The police department received a telphone message from Cedar Springs at 12:15 yesterday afternoon stating that a big fire had broken out there and seking assistance from the city fire deonce ordered a steamer from No. 2 and a hose cart from No. 4 with a squad of firemen to the little village. An engine and flat car were contributed by the G. R. & I. railroad and the apparatus was loaded and ready to proceed. About 1 o'clock another message was received stating that the home department had the fire under control and no assistance would be needed. It was learned that the are was m J. H. Worden's lumber yard on the west side of the raticond track and threatened to festroy the whole stock. The lumber was owned jointly by the Widdleomb Furniture company and J. H. Warden. WITH JACKSON PARK PROPERTY

Chat With a Chicago Real Estate Dealer in Reference to the Effects of the World's Fair.

F. F. Raymond, a Chicago real estate dealer, was a guest at the Morton yesterday. "Chicago never before had so ranny evidences of prosperity as it now exhibits. Disregarding the World's fair entirely, there is more business being done and more new enterprises being developed than ever before. You can see innumerable illustrations of this in the city itself, and as many more in the suburban towns. Waukegan, South Millwaukee, even Evanston shows unparalelled prosperity. No more impressive illustration of Chicago's greatness could be given than its present wonderful growth.

Some persons think Chicago is going to get rich out of the World's fair; but that is all nonsense. There may be a few men who will be benefitted; but Chicago as a whole will not coin very many wagon loads of money out of it. So far as the value of property is con-cerned, it won't make a dollar's difference. When it was definitely settled that the fair would be located at or in the vicinity of Jackson park a few specu-lators made a rush for the land. They are holding it at suicidal prices. But when the fair is over property there will not be worth a cent more than it when the fair is over property there will not be worth a cent more than it was before, although the real estate dealers in that vicinity will have succeeded in deluding a few persons into the belief that it will. As an illustration of their intense patriotism it seems that when the government wished to secure ground on which to quarter the national troops during the dedicatory ceremionies this month it had to go to those speculators. They wanted more for a week's rental of the property than the land itself is really worth.

Dear sir—The committee to decide upon the hand writing in the case of the special premium No. 23 have concluded that taking into account the matter of age the premium should go to Cora Nagel, aged 10 years who resides at No. 484 Broadway, city, and to her you will be kind enought to send the instrument.

The society thanks you for the generous offer you made and the way you have carried out the plan.

than the land itself is really worth. But happily there have not been very many cases of extortion yet. The livery men attempted to charge the comery men attempted to charge the com-pany $22.50 a day for the use of car-riages during the dedicatory services, but the committee has refused to pay more than the regular price, $15, and the jehus have submitted. In so large a city as Chicago it must be expected that there are persons that will take advantage of any event like that and gorge themselves so far as possible, but they are not very numerous, and the management will do all in its power to suppress them." suppress them."

Royal Extravagance.

Potentates are apt to be very extravagant persons, and seem to have as bard a time living within their allowances as any small boy on five cents a week. Of course they have tremendous expenses to meet in the way of enter taining other potentates, and no king ever lived who failed to have a royal family big enough to fill all the palaces at his disposal and two more, but often they could look after their own and still have plenty left for pleasure if they did not waste. The worst two instances of royal extravagance in modern times are the king of Siam's submerged palace and the pipe of the shah of Persia.

The cost of the Siamese king's palace is not known, but it is a splendidly costly affair and is so arranged that his royal highness and his suite can spend a great deal of their time under water surrounded by the most luxurious things the world affords. It would seem as though a king with so much splendor at his command on the surface of the earth could get along without a palace under water, but as a popular song says, "Things are seldom what they seem," and it is the greatest danger of great luxury that we tire of the blessings we have and become, even in the midst of them, most unhappy because we can

The shah of Persia's tobacco pipe is worth $400,000, and the chances are that he does not get half the pleasure from smoking it that the poor laboring map gets from puffing his one cent clay pipe. When one reflects upon the amount of good that could be done with $400,000 put out at fair interest, one is forced to consider it wicked to keep so much money locked up in so unworthy an object.—Harper's Young People.

Messages by Oblects.

Some years ago a white man was captured in the course of a raid made by the amazon warriors of Dahomey upon a missionary settlement. A few weeks later his anxious wife received a message, which consisted simply of a pebhle, a piece of chargoal, a peppercorn, s grain of parched corn and a rag.

There was no difficulty in translating this meming enigma of the native code. The pebble said, "I am in good health"e., hard in body: the piece of charcoal signified, "But my prospects are very black and glosmy," the pepperson. meant, "I am very auxious about the fu-

Sugar means peace and love; powder and shot convey notice of war; a rator is sent to a murderer by the victim's relatives to notify him that it is expected he will kill himself for their satisfaction Six cowrie shells signify "I love you." Such a string sent by a young man to a girl expresses a desire to form an enrecognized way of making a declaration of the tender passion in that part of the world.—Yankee Blade.

"Mamma, when you grow old will you look like little grandma?" asked a little boy of three or four years of his pretty

"Yes, dear," answered his mother, "if

"Well, mamma, I'll try hard, but I am afraid I can't love you then as well as I do now." There is something in this trifling in-cident that in spite of all reasoning will sadden, for the child told frankly that which those who have grown even to middle age must count as true—there is always a premium on youth.-Detroit
